

TMC Merge Poll Results

We would like your opinion on when TMCs merge. Therefore, even if you are NOT with AMEX GBT or CWT, we are interested in how you would manage two large TMCs that merge.

Which of the following best describes your position when 2 large TMCs merge?

What You Need To Know

The outcome of this poll is interesting and I think speaks to the known workload and resource effort involved in a TMC RFP. The biggest slices of the pie went to holding off on going down the path to considering an RFP in the short-term, regardless if coming from the angle of being a customer of either merging TMC or not! For those who are customers of the merging TMCs, people felt more cautious with going to market during the merger process, perhaps feeling more safety at 'home' until the dust settled. Those who voted to go to RFP to separate from both merging companies perhaps are seeking a more stable environment in depending of that lengthy process bringing two companies together.

